

As Time Goes By

In Casablanca, Humphrey Bogart told Dooley Wilson to "Play it" (Alas, one of the most famous lines in show business, "Play it again, Sam!" was never uttered). The song that Wilson played, As Time Goes By, however, was originally written in 1931 for a Broadway show Everybody's Welcome.

Words and Music by HERMAN HUPFELD

Slowly (  $\text{D} = \text{C} \text{ D}$  )

C(add D)      Dm7      G-5      G      Dm7      G

mp

You must re - mem - ber this, when two lov - ers woo, still the same old story, they a

with pedal throughout

Gm/D      G7      C      B      C

kiss is still a kiss, still say, "I love you," fight for love and glory, a on a sigh is just a sigh; that you can re - ly; case of do or die! the no The

D7      Gsus4      G9      I. C(add D)      Dm7      G-5      G

To Coda

fun - da - men - tal things ap - ply as time goes by. And mat - ter what the fu - ture brings, as time goes world will al - ways wel - come

2.

C                      F                      C                      C7                      F(add G)

by.                      Moon-light and love — songs

Bbmaj7                      A7                      Dm7/A                      Dm9

nev - er    out    of    date,                      hearts full    of    pas - sion,

B7-9/D#                      B7/D#                      Am                      Am(maj 7)

jeal - ous - y    and    hate;                      wo - man    needs    man —                      and

A7                      D/A                      Dm7                      G6-5                      Gsus4                      G-5                      D.S. al Coda G man must have his mate,    that                      no    one    can    de - ny. —                      It's

Gsus4                      G7                      C(add D)                      D7                      Fm7                      Cmaj7

Coda                      lov - ers    as    time    goes    by.